

ROAD BOND ELECTION ORDERED; $750,000 BONDS TO BE VOTED ON

County Commissioners Comply With Request of Taxpayers and Call a Bond Election For July 27; Concrete Roads Are Favored; Dick Dudley Says This Is a "Million Dollar County."

PROPERTY owners of El Paso county will be given an opportunity on Tuesday, July 27, to vote on the matter of issuing $750,000 in bonds for further road construction and improvements. The county commissioners' court, in session Tuesday afternoon, acted favorably upon petitions asking for a bond election and set the date for the election.

The ordering of the election came as a result of the activities of the business men who met with the commissioners last Saturday. Following this meeting, petitions were circulated. Several of the petitions, bearing many signatures, failed to reach the court Tuesday, but the petitions presented bore 84 names.

S. J. Freudenenthal Opposed. Prior to the passing of the order the court heard arguments from a number of business men. S. J. Freudenenthal, in a short talk, argued against the bond issue at this time, declaring that the county's roads are for the most part good, and stating that $100,000 intelligently spent would put all the present highways in good condition.

"It is a fine thing to have good roads," he continued, "but how many of our 40,000 population own automobiles. The cry for better roads is not coming from the farmers, but from the comparatively few who possess automobiles. I don't think we should burden our people with more bond issues; ceived this year from tax collections for the road and bridge fund. He called attention to the excellent gravel road built in Dona Ana county, New Mexico, for $200,000. The court, he stated, desired to get the very best material, and declared that it was not the amount of money to be spent that counted so much as to get value received for the money expended. Commissioner James Clifford declared that the commissioners should know what they want before they decide and should proceed cautiously.

A. P. Coles Favors Issue. "I quite agree with Mr. Freudenenthal that a community can be killed by over-taxation," said A. P. Coles, "and on the other hand, good roads are the best asset a city can have. I am for the bond issue, but let us know what we need before we get into road building. The macadam road from Anthony to Las Cruces is an excellent stretch of road and I would first favor macadam, then cement and then bituminous."

Julius Krausaker made a strong talk in favor of concrete roads. "I am a stockholder in the local cement plant, but, regardless of that, I favor concrete because it is, to my mind, the most enduring material that can be used, and particularly well adapted to this section. Mr. Freudenenthal says to spend $100,000 for the repair of the present highways. Let us first get a far better to build new permanent roads than to be repairing constantly. Statistics show that it costs from $250 to $1250 per year to maintain ordinary roads, whereas concrete roads are maintained at from $25 to $50 per year. This being true, there should be no doubt as to what material we should use."

Later in the session Mr. Freudenenthal stated that if the people wanted the roads and the commissioners could secure the best possible roads for the money, he would support the issue. Replying to Mr. Freudenenthal's first talk, Commissioner Seth B. Orndorff declared that the proposed bond issue would not materially increase the burden of taxation in the county. He stated that Dallas and Tarrant county and several of the other counties in southern states that had recently been visited by members of the court in gathering ideas for the new court house, the tax rate was higher than in El Paso county, even taking into consideration that in some of these places the rate of assessment was compared with actual values is lower.

Commissioner Orndorff stated that the road engineer has estimated that it would cost $150,000 to repair the road to Anthony and the road down the valley and that only $30,000 had been received.

Following the action of the court ordering the election it was announced that within the next week a committee of five business men would be selected to act in an advisory capacity with the court. The committee would plan the road work in the event the bond issue should carry.

Among those present at the meeting were S. J. Freudenenthal, H. M. C. Kelly, J. M. Wyatt, George L. Barron, A. P. Coles and Julius Krausaker.

D. A. R. MEMBERS EXPLAIN THE FIASCO OF MONDAY

Members of the D. A. R. have made an explanation of the fiasco which connected with the failure of the "Anti-Suffragette Girls" baseball team to play at Rio Grande park on Monday in connection with the flag day sports.

"An explanation is certainly due the public," declared Mrs. J. W. Lorenzen, "and it has been arranged that we will understand that has put the D. A. R. in a bad light."

"When the committee first arranged to have a burlesque game, we were informed that all the local bands would declare a half holiday on flag day and a team of boys arranged to take the part of the girls. On Thursday we were informed that there would be no band holiday and were then promised a team. We were then positively assured that we could rely upon this team and you can imagine our chagrin when they failed to appear, though we were assured as late as 2 o'clock Monday afternoon that they would be on hand. Afterward we found that it was impossible for the boys to get there."

"When the burlesque game failed to go on, we put on the second game between the Red Sox and company B of the Sixth Infantry."

Mrs. Mary Ross Keister stated that she had waited until the second game started and was rather surprised when an announcement was made that the burlesque game was off, as it had been arranged that this announcement would be made before the second game had started.

"Regarding the statement that some member of the committee stated that the 'Anti-Suffragette' have missed their train connections, I may have said that myself, but I don't know," said Mrs. Lorenzen. "If I do know that, we had several inquiries about the time the game would start and we were trying to appease the fans and get them to wait for we still had hope of putting on the burlesque. We were more disappointed than any one else when the lawyers failed to appear. Personally, I didn't even have the heart to go into the grandstand."

"It is very unfortunate that no announcement was made but we arranged to have one made and I thought that it had been done."

JOBE SAYRE, GRANT RANCHMAN, KILLED; NEIGHBOR SURRENDERS

Johnson voluntarily surrendered to the officers at Hurley and was brought to the county jail here. He had a preliminary hearing today at Hurley. It is said that the two men quarreled over land.

TUBERCULOSIS TO BE OVERCOME

Expert Says Vaccination Will Make Human Race Immune in 50 Years.

Seattle, Wash., June 16.—Dr. Enrico Castelli, special delegate from the Faculty of Medicine of Genoa, Italy, to the university of Genoa. He stated that by this test he was able to determine the amount of tuberculosis infection, the degree of immunity against the disease, how much tuberculous matter must be introduced into the body to obtain complete immunity, and how long this immunity will last.

He predicted that in less than 50 years time immunity from tuberculosis would be as thoroughly accomplished in the case of mankind.

We have applied successfully the method of vaccination against tuberculosis, conceived for the first time by Maragliano in 1902. We are able now to apply this vaccination on a large scale, human beings and animals, and we have shown that we can even vaccinate pregnant women and animals.

More important still, acting on the knowledge that infants die who contracted infection in infancy is contracted through milk which forms the principal element of infant diet, we concluded that if we adopted for the feeding of babies milk obtained either from immunized animals or vaccinated mothers, we would eliminate the principal source of infection of this disease.

The first six months of life is the best period for storing the new organism with all the material defense necessary to react against a future possible infection. In our opinion, the vaccine that is made immune through the vaccination of the mother and self-vaccination of the infant, has demonstrated its active reactivity against a possible infection by the feeding of immunized milk, a vaccine stolen from tuberculosis. We have succeeded in training a group of farmers in the Province of Genoa in the technique of immunization of animals and have demonstrated to them that the milk thus obtained does not change, neither in taste nor in its nourishing qualities.

We feel that we are in position now to master in a logical and systematic way the problem of prophylaxis of tuberculosis and that we have acquired a better understanding of its treatment. The faculty of Genoa is convinced that applying to the prevention of tuberculosis all the means at our disposal would accomplish in tuberculosis what Jenner has accomplished in smallpox.

GERMAN WAR AVIATOR WHO WAS ARRESTED, DISAPPEARS

New York, June 16.—Heinz Hardenburg, said to be a German army aviator, who was arrested late Saturday last in Cincinnati in connection with the Lusitania inquiry here, has disappeared. It is now stated and it is believed that in some manner he escaped from United States secret service men who were bringing him here from Ohio. Government officers here declined to make any statement regarding his whereabouts.

Hardenburg was to be a witness against Gustav Stabile, the German reservist who was charged with perjury after he had filed an affidavit with the state department that he had been on board the liner Lusitania just before the liner's last trip and saw guns concealed there. Hardenburg is said to have made the statement that Stabile was, in fact, at work some distance from the plane when, according to his affidavit, he was on board the Lusitania.

U. S. LOSES $20,000,000 THROUGH "MOONSHINE" FRAUD

Fort Smith, Ark., June 16.—Through a "moonshine" fraud, the federal official to have existed 10 or 12 years in the United States has been defrauded of about $20,000,000 revenue in the manufacture of liquor. Special agent in charge, according to David A. States, acting commissioner of internal revenue, the United States grand jury Tuesday began the investigation of the fraud.

The fraud came to light through the disappearance of Knox Booth, former internal revenue agent, who has since been arrested. Seventeen men, in all, have been arrested. They include several federal employees and the presidents of two distilling companies.

The fraud is said to have been committed through a practice of the distillers of "crowding the mash," or turning out more liquor than the rated capacity of their plants. This is said to be impossible except by the connivance of government revenue agents.

EL PASO FAILS TO GO AFTER TRADE

R. H. Rinehart Says West Texas Wants to Buy Here, if We Ask Her.

"The trade of all the cities and towns east of here is in El Paso for the asking," said R. H. Rinehart, who with Harry Locke, has been on an automobile tour as far east as Midland.

"Wherever we went, and we visited Hope, Artesia, Broncho, Livingston, Pecos, Carlsbad, Fort Stockton, Midland, Abilene, Mar and Sherman, we said Mr. Rinehart, 'the people all were delighted at the prospect of getting on a road map that would put them in touch with El Paso. They all wanted to be closer to El Paso in every way, but the universal complaint was that El Paso did not pay any attention to them—did not appear to want their trade.'"

A Carlsbad hotel man told me he wanted to buy his meats in El Paso and that he asked an El Paso house about prices. The house told him it sent a traveling man to Carlsbad, once a month. He said he could not buy enough meat to last him a month.

There is a big field for El Paso all through western Texas if the people of El Paso would only go after it. El Paso is not as large as several of the cities we have here and it is doing a big business, supplying all of western Texas with western goods. The western owners told me they would like to be able to get their stuff from El Paso, where the stock is bigger, but they said El Paso did not seem to want their trade. They often have calls for tires not carried in stock and would like to be able to wire into El Paso and get the tire that night, but they don't. I had to wire for a tire after trying Pecos, Stockton and Alpine to supply my needs.

All over western Texas and the country of New Mexico, the cattle are fat and fine, but the cattlemen are shipping to Fort Worth, because Fort Worth pays attention to them. El Paso could get all this beef if it wanted after it. The people all want to be closer to El Paso if the El Pasoans will make the move to show that it wants them.

"One stockman, talking to me, said that cattle loans that should be made in El Paso are now being made in Kansas City and St. Louis. Where cattlemen do their buying, they also do their selling and shipping. I am told this cattlemen said if the banks of El Paso would put out their money to west Texas cattlemen, it would mean the marketing of these cattle in El Paso and that the cattlemen would buy all their supplies here.

"Several of us were talking with me said that El Paso was always talking about 'the southwest' but seemed to consider only New Mexico and Arizona. They realize the location of western Texas from the rest of Texas the same as we do and they want to be closer to El Paso.

Mr. Rinehart and Mr. Locke report the roads generally good wherever they went. They praise the roads in Pecos county as the finest in the southwest. In all directions from Fort Stockton, they say, a fine graded road has been built, with cattle guards through all fences so that it is not necessary to open gates.

Mr. Rinehart and Mr. Locke are completing their map work for their forthcoming log book, which will be much more pretentious than when they first started. The book besides including one-day trips out of El Paso, will carry logs of the road north to the very last of the road to the north and south, and west to the coast and east to the Gulf of Mexico.

Removing Unsightly Hairs With a Simple Solution

Valencia Suratt, in her talks on health and beauty, says: "Those disagreeable and unsightly hairs can be permanently removed without pain or sore, without the use of dangerous chemicals. This solution is applied with the tips of the fingers, keeping the parts moist until the hairs are actually dissolved." This writer advises against the use of powders and pastes which only burn the hairs off at the roots, leaving the skin rough and sore, while this simple solution leaves the skin soft, smooth and white. "It is really wonderful," says Mrs. Suratt, "how beautiful your face and arms will look after removing the hairs with this simple solution."—Advertisement.
